AZUMAH RESOURCES LTD has appointed Joe Ariti as a non-executive director of the company.

Ariti has a BSc, a Diploma in Mineral Science (from Murdoch University) and an MBA (Edinburgh University). He is also a member of AusIMM, being a metallurgist with gold expertise and more than 20 years experience in plant operations and project development, planning, management and finance. In addition, Ariti has also spent several years in executive management roles in Australia and overseas.

His appointment will bring important new technical and commercial skills to the company as it embarks on an aggressive drilling campaign to increase resources from the present 500,000 indicated and inferred ounces at its wholly-owned Wa-Lawra project in north west Ghana.

He is presently engaged by Cape Lambert Iron Ore Ltd as general manager for projects.
